MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Telephone Conversation with Under Secretary of the Navy Woolsey, 16 November 1978

Secretary Woolsey phoned me on 16 November concerning our various negotiations for improved interchange between the Agency and the Navy.

a. He had reviewed the latest draft of our intelligence memorandum on the SLOC. He disagrees with our evaluation of the lack of importance of Soviet land-based air threat and with the assumption that the peacetime flow of shipping will persist in the early days of a war. Other than these points, he thinks it is a substantial improvement. He will send his comments back to us shortly.

b. With respect to [] he hopes in several weeks to be able to come to us with a proposal to bring more of our people up to speed on what the Navy is doing here and at the same time to explicate the dividing line between intelligence and Navy research in this area.
